Taft-Ike Deal Reported Brewing In Oklahoma

State's GOP Holding Its Convention

Hotel Room Confab Results In Plan To Avoid 'Showdown'

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 11.—The political spotlight somewhat dimmed by a hotel room smoke cloud, focused on Oklahoma Monday where Taft and Eisenhower forces meet in the nation's first Republican state convention.

Some of the edge was taken off the outcome by a last-minute compromise made in an effort to avoid a showdown test of strength.

Jack Bell, Associated Press political writer, said backers of Senator Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower got together in Oklahoma City hotel room conferences Sunday and tentatively decided on a slate of four at-large delegates including two for Taft, one for Eisenhower and one uncommitted.

Bell said the best estimate of political observers on the 12 district delegates already chosen is that four are for Taft, four Eisenhower, one favorable to Taft, two lean to the general, and one committed to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, but likely to go to Taft.

IF TAFT gets two delegates Monday, he would have a slight advantage, and, if the MacArthur support goes his way, a majority. While the number of delegates involved is small, the advantage is viewed more from the psychological standpoint.

Other developments: Taft, in Minnesota en route to Spokane, Wash., and a whirlwind program that takes him on to Seattle and Portland, said he will not enter Minnesota and California primaries.

He said it wouldn't be a fair (Please turn to Page Ten)

B-36 In Trouble 13 Hours, But It Makes Landing OK

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 11.—An Air Force B-36 bomber, in trouble for most of nearly 13 hours it was aloft, was reported down safely Monday on an island Navy field.

The civil aeronautics control tower said the six-engine plane, world's biggest bomber, landed at the North Island naval air station in San Diego Bay.

The Navy, Air Force and Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Co., builders of the bombers, refused to talk about it.

The bomber took off from San Diego's Lindbergh Field at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. Reports at the field were that the landing gear fouled as it was being retracted shortly after takeoff. Presumably repairs were made aloft to permit the landing.

The huge plane dived over San Diego, city of 334,000, for hours. Residents accustomed to flights of the big bombers nevertheless were puzzled at the persistent circling of this plane.

Meanderings By Wash Fayette

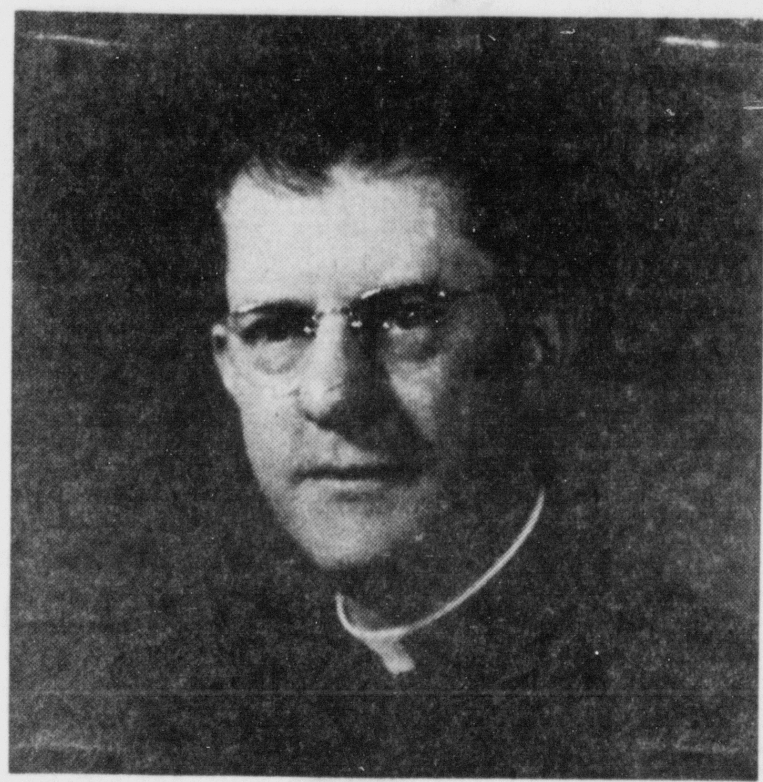

On November 15, 1851, the mayor of Washington C. H. was authorized to grant the right-of-way to the Cincinnati, Zanesville and Wilmington Railroad.

It was not until a year or two later that the road, the first railroad in Fayette County, was completed and placed in use.

It was a "narrow gauge" when completed, and so remained for many years before it was changed to a regular width road. Considerable local money was invested in the railroad when it was built.

After being operated for many years, the name was changed to the Cincinnati and Muskingum Valley (C&MV) Railroad.

Fr. Otto F. Guenther Is Called by Death; Body To Lie in State

Rev. Father Otto F. Guenther

The Reverend Father Otto F. Guenther, 57, died Saturday morning in Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus, but he left a lasting imprint on this community, St. Colman's parish and the Catholic Church which he served.

It was Father Guenther's dynamic personality and his devotion to the church and its purposes to which credit is given for the establishment of St. Colman's convent and planning for the expansion of St. Colman's Church.

Although few of his parishioners realized it, Father Guenther's health had been failing for some time. He was admitted to Mt. Carmel Hospital December 21, 1951.

Even as he devoted his waning time and strength to his last service to the church—planning the expansion and raising the funds for the work—he frequently had to retire temporarily to the parsonage for rest.

Church attendance here grew correspondingly during Father Guenther's ministry.

FATHER GUENTHER counted among his friends here, Protestants as well as Catholics. That was

Pope Issuing New Call For Spiritual Turn

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 11.—Pope Pius XII has called for a spiritual crusade to turn the world from "paths which sweep on to ruin" and from a general condition which "may explode at any moment."

Broadcasting over the Italian radio network, the pontiff said Sunday each man must re-examine "what he can and must do personally as his own contribution to the saving power of God." He appealed for a return to "Jesus Christ, the Church and the Christian way of life."

Threats to the present generation, he said, are "much more widespread and grave than pestilence and the convulsions of nature, even through their continuing threat has begun to make the nations almost insensible."

The pope said a general condition exists which "may explode at any moment." Its origins lie in "the religious lukewarmness of so many, in the low moral tone of public and private life, in systematic efforts to poison simple minds, to which poison is given after their understanding of true liberty has, so to speak, been drugged."

"The realization of our responsibility before God obliges us to attempt everything, in order to spare the human race so frightful a disaster," he declared.

Allied Military Chiefs in Huddle obvious in the number who passed reverently by his bier in the church, where his body lies in state, to pay their final tributes.

Father Guenther was born in Glenmont (in Holmes County in northeast Ohio), the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Guenther, both of whom preceded him in death.

He attended St. Fidelis College at Herman, Pa., and then went to Our Lady of Angels Seminary at Niagara Falls, N. Y., from 1914 to 1919. He was ordained a priest June 14, 1919, by Bishop James J. Hartley of Columbus at the Josephinum College chapel.

Before coming to Washington C. H. as the pastor of St. Colman's Church, he had served five churches, was a member of the St. Charles Seminary faculty in Columbus, and on the staff of chaplains in two hospitals and the Lockbourne Air Force Base.

HIS FIRST appointment was to St. Francis Church in Newark where he remained for a year after his ordination into the priesthood. After that he went to St. Mary's in Dennison, St. Peter's in Steubenville, St. Mary's in Pine Grove, St. Teresa's in Cadiz and St. Augustine's in Columbus, where a new school and church was built under his direction.

During the early part of the last war he was chaplain at Mercy Hospital in Mt. Vernon and during the closing years the auxiliary chaplain at Lockbourne and assistant at St. Francis parish in Columbus.

He is survived by four brothers and four sisters. Victor H. Guenther of Akron; P. J. Guenther of Mansfield, Quinton A. Guenther of Kent and John M. Guenther of Barber (Please turn to Page Two)

Dope Racketeers Face New, Tough Law In Congress

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Another and tougher blow has been aimed at the narcotics racket, already staggered by sweeping raids which reportedly have cut teen-age addiction in half.

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) said he would introduce a bill striking at sources of supply, rather than at peddlers.

The measure would make owners, banks and insurance companies responsible for importation of any illicit narcotics in cargoes with which they deal. Heavy penalties are proposed.

But the bill doesn't stop there. Sabath wants to cut off all American military and economic aid and withdraw all trade privileges to countries which refuse to enter an agreement to limit output of narcotics to the minimum required for legitimate use.

Do All Those Wives Want To Drive?

CINCINNATI, Feb. 11.—You think the guy with one car and a wife who drives has a problem?

How about King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia? He has four wives and perhaps a 100 or more ex-wives to provide transportation for.

The Arabian monarch now will have 20 specially built Cadillac "harem cars" to transport his wives, present and past, between Saudi Arabia's twin capitals of Riyadh and Mecca.

The price: A mere quarter of a million dollars.

Paint Creek Flood Problems Put to County Commissioners

What action can be taken to permit the waters of Paint Creek, in flood times, to flow through the creek channel more rapidly to prevent floods in Washington C. H. and some adjoining rural land areas?

This was the question up before the county commissioners at their regular session in the Court House Monday morning. It arose as a result of a brief conference with a group of business men and C. E. McCarley, secretary of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, who called to determine if the county could take some action.

The result was an agreement for a committee to be named by the commissioners, consisting of both county officials and land owners along the creek, to investigate and determine what project can be worked out that would offer reasonable relief and how it can be handled.

It was pointed out, however, that the best approach was through a petition from landowners affected by the creek water.

In addition to Secretary McCarley, those in the group which discussed the problem with the commissioners were O. W. Landrum, manager of the local plant of the Cudahy Packing Company, Harris Willis, manager of the Willis Lumber Company and Willis Coffman of the Coffman Stair Company. Others were present unofficially

Pennsylvania Says Lausche 'Misinformed'

LANSFORD, Pa., Feb. 11.—A Pennsylvania Turnpike official has disputed Ohio Gov. Frank J. Lausche's statement that Pennsylvania had broke an agreement over use of the turnpike's western extension by heavy trucks.

T. J. Evans, chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, said Lausche's statement was "not true" and that the Ohio governor had been "misinformed."

Governor Lausche said Saturday that turnpike commissioners from Ohio and Pennsylvania agreed at a meeting last March that truck traffic would be diverted at Homewood, Pa., until Ohio builds its own turnpike traffic was to enter Ohio via Pennsylvania Route 18 and U. S. Routes 224 and 422, which can handle heavy trucks, Lausche said.

"Contrary to the general agreement," Lausche said, "Pennsylvania did not distribute the heavy trucks at Homewood."

Ohio has imposed weight limits on roads at the Ohio border, forcing the trucks onto secondary Pennsylvania roads. As a result, Pennsylvania contends it is losing $5,000 a day in turnpike tolls.

Ex-G-Man Shuns Cleanup Job Bid

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Virgil Peterson, operating director of the Chicago Crime Commission, has declined an invitation from Newbold Morris to help investigate corruption in the federal government.

Body of King Starts Trip To End at Grave

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The body of Albert Frederick Arthur George Windsor—known to the world as King George VI—Monday started its long, slow trip to a grave four days away.

Followed by his widowed wife and two sorrowing daughters—the eldest his successor on Britain's throne—the coffin of the monarch whose people dubbed him "George the Good" was borne on a horse-drawn gun carriage from the little parish church at Sandringham.

There, on the nearby country estate he loved so well, George was born and there he died last Wednesday after a life span of 56 years. In the little church of St. Mary Magdalene, his family attended a last private service for him, then took his body to the public home awaiting it in London.

Britain's great will pay homage at a service at the hall late Monday. The rest of the dead sovereign's subjects will be permitted to file past his bier Tuesday and the two days after.

Mig Is Downed By Yankee Airmen

SEOUL, Feb. 11.—American Sabrejets shot down a Communist Mig jet and damaged four Monday, boosting their two-day bag to four kills and nine Migs damaged.

Fifth Air Force headquarters said one enemy jet was shot down in a dogfight between 18 Sabres and 60 Red jets high over North Korea. The bleak battlefield was quiet and allied infantrymen huddled in snow-blanketed foxholes.

Bigamist Reveals Why He Forced To Unload Bonds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Congress heard Monday about a bigamist who had to cash his defense bonds every 60 days 'to save my life.'

The story turned up with the release of hearings by the House Appropriations Committee on the budget of the Treasury Department's savings bond division.

Robert W. Coyne, unpaid businessman consultant to the division, said he ran into the case while conducting a check in an unidentified eastern city into why people were cashing their bonds.

He said one man, after told his name would never be disclosed, told investigators:

"The fact is, gentlemen, I am married to two women. I buy the bonds and I give them to my first wife and after 60 days I sneak away and cashes them and gives the money to my second wife. So you see the box I am in. That is why I cashes bonds."

55 Said Killed In Iranian Riot

TEHRAN, Feb. 11.—News-papers reported that 55 persons were killed and more than 300 injured in six hours of fierce street fighting Saturday in Zabol, an Iranian town along the Afghan frontier.

Official sources said an angry mob had beheaded the provincial governor and three other officials, but there was no confirmation of the larger casualty toll. The anti-government papers Attach and Dad quoted "informed Tehran sources."

Ohio Solons Oppose UMT

Military Measure Faces Rough Time

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—If the sentiments of a majority of Ohio's 23-member House delegation are a barometer, the Universal Military Training bill is heading into rough weather.

The bill is expected to come up for House consideration during the last week of this month. It would create a UMT program for 18-year-old youths—a program that would go into effect when Congress or the President decided it should.

Thirteen of Ohio's representatives have registered opposition either to the bill reported out by the House Armed Services Committee last week or to the principle of Universal Military Training itself.

Several said they haven't yet made up their minds on the pending bill.

Only one—Rep. Frazier Reams of Toledo, Congress' only independent—is out in support of UMT.

This being an election year, many congressmen are approaching the touchy UMT issue with caution.

These are the comments of some Ohioans opposed to UMT:

Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Blanchester, a Republican leader—"I have opposed any compulsory military service program as a matter of policy. I expect to do so this time."

Rep. Jackson Betts of Findlay—"I don't think I can go along with it. I'm going to have to be convinced."

Rep. Cliff Clevenger of Bryan—"I am very definitely opposed to military dictatorship, which I am confident would result from the present bill."

Rep. Walter E. Brehm of Millersport—"I am opposed to UMT in any form. This does not mean I am opposed to a program of preparedness."

"However, it seems to me that if such a program is indicated, it could best be carried on through the high schools and colleges in the form of ROTC setups."

Republican Rep. Paul F. Schenck of Dayton—"I'm dubious of the need for UMT at this time. What disturbs me most is that we of the older generation must call on the youth of the nation to bail us out of this situation in which we find ourselves."

Rep. James G. Polk of Highland County was unreachable for comment.

DC-6 Plunge Is Third In Two Months

29—Perhaps 32—Die in Disaster; 4 On Ground Killed

ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 11.—Another crippled airliner roared down into this frightened, crash-plagued city Monday, sliced into a big apartment house and blew up—the third major air disaster within the city in less than two months.

There were 29 known dead, and three persons unaccounted for making a possible death toll of 32. At least 115 have perished in the three successive residential district crashes.

The National Airlines DC-6, disabled by engine trouble at a thousand feet in a clear midnight sky, nosed over—and like two others before it—plunged down into the city, as residents cringed before the familiar, ominous scream.

The plane rammed into the 52-family dwelling and exploded into flying fragments and fire. It was 2,600 pounds under its allowable weight.

Twenty-eight of the 63 persons aboard the Miami-bound plane, including three of the four-member crew, were dead or missing. At least four apartment house residents were killed.

FORTY PERSONS, most of them the plane's survivors, were injured, about one third of them seriously.

The new tragedy forced a hasty shutdown of air traffic at nearby Newark Airport, one of the busiest in the east. The field's operations, in the words of Elizabeth's mayor James T. Kirk, had placed this city under an "umbrella of death."

The airport's traffic was diverted to Idlewild and LaGuardia Air (Please turn to Page Two)

Redwood Trees New Farm Crop

'Tallest' Title Lost
By Iowa Tall Corn

By BOB J. BURANDT
(Central Press Association)
SAN FRANCISCO—California has, with all of its native modesty, just laid claim to having the "world's tallest farm crop" within its golden borders.

It looks like the dethroned champion, the tall corn that Iowans boast so lustily about, will have to bow its tassels in submission, for the new skyscraper "farm crop" happens to be those towering, world famous redwood trees.

These majestic trees are the latest species to be included in America's vast "tree farm" movement. From now on, redwoods will be thought of more and more as one of the nation's vital farm crops. Of course, there will always be sufficient giant redwood trees, principally in the "redwood empire" along the Pacific coast north of here, to satisfy the scenic tastes of tourists.

REDWOOD tree farms will be managed like agricultural operations, except that they won't produce as many crops as a potato patch or a cornfield. However, these tree farms will require no plowing, weeding, fertilizing or artificial irrigation. Mother Nature already has these tasks well in hand.

However, the tree farmer can look forward to regularly recurrent crops of different sizes, since in a 40-acre stand of timber there may be trees of all sizes, from 12 inches to 12 feet in diameter.

The whole secret of tree farming, of course, is in the highly beneficial practice of "selective cutting." Under this method, only the mature or over-mature trees on a particular acreage are logged or "harvested."

Immature trees are left to provide future "timber crops" for coming years. In addition, enough "crop" trees—at least four per acre—are left standing to generate a new crop of seedlings.

In past years, before the advent of the tree farm movement, timber owners often removed all trees from a certain area in order economically to justify the huge expense of logging railroads and the old logging cable systems. This was known as "clear cutting."

FORMERLY, the heavy cables sometimes destroyed many of the smaller trees which were not cut. Today, however, tree farmers use highly specialized logging equipment, designed to permit the removal of selected mature trees from a tract without seriously damaging the young trees.

Contrary to popular belief, the redwood is not a slow-growing tree, except where forests are dense and it becomes crowded and does not receive adequate light. Under the favorable conditions that tree farms afford, the redwood grows as fast as any other species.

The California Redwood Association, with headquarters here in San Francisco, is aiding in the sound establishment of tree farms in the "redwood belt," which extends along the coast from the Oregon border to the southern boundary of Monterey County.

While redwood is the principal species, the tree farms may also include other species, such as fir or pine, or a mixture of species.

BEFORE an owner can have his tree farm "certified" by the association, he must agree to follow a number of rules and principles. These include:

- 1—Maintenance of the tree farm land in a condition which will produce "forest crops under good forest practices."
 - 2—Provision for reasonable protection of the tree farm forest area from fire and other damage, including excessive grazing of livestock.
 - 3—Harvesting the crop of standing timber on the tree farm in a manner which will assure future crops.
- Awarded a Tree Farm certificate is awarded, periodic inspections are made to insure that the rules are being observed. So far, well over 100,000 acres of redwood tree farms have been established.

Previously, nearly 700,000 acres of western pine lands elsewhere in the state have been designated as tree farms under the program of the Western Pine Association.

From its tiny start of 121,000 acres in the Pacific Northwest in 1941, tree farming has now increased to 23 million acres in 29 different states. This integrated program may well be America's "insurance policy" to provide adequate supplies of lumber for the needs of coming generations.

ports in New York City and also to Philadelphia.

A few moments before the four-engine airliner crashed at 12:20 a. m., EST, its pilot messaged that two engines had failed. Told to return to the field, he radioed a last frantic "can't make it." The pilot, Capt. W. G. Foster, died in the crash.

Then, the big plane plunged downward like a meteor, streaming gasoline behind it. The ominous roar of its descent kindled terror in residents below. Twice before since mid-December they had heard that sound and twice before flaming death struck among them.

The plunging National airliner knifed through the top floor of the four-story apartment house, wiping out one whole family of three. Another resident died on the second floor, screaming behind a wall of flames.

THE PLANE caromed off the building, slinging wreckage for hundreds of yards around. The front of the fuselage catapulted into the playground of a children's home burning fiercely; the rear lit in a treetop.

Unlike the other two crashes in which all plane passengers and crew were killed, 37 of those aboard, most of them in the rear section, miraculously escaped death. But like the crash 20 days ago, the plane spread death on the ground.

The plane nosed over and roared downward shortly after its takeoff. In the apartment house below, some one screamed: "Plane crash! Everybody run!"

It was like a familiar signal in this industrial city of 110,000, which is about 10 miles south of New York City.

On Dec. 16, a non-scheduled #46 dropped in flames into the Elizabeth River, killing all 56 aboard. On Jan. 22, an American Airlines Con air hurtled into a residential district, killing all 23 aboard and seven residents.

Monday's plane was two minutes off the ground when Capt. Foster, radioed an engine had failed. Foster started dumping fuel to lighten his load, then another of the four engines went out.

425 Hens Scared To Death by Guns

ATLANTA, Feb. 11—Georgia legislators don't like the idea of paying burial expenses for a flock of chickens.

Booming guns of National Guard field artillerymen on maneuvers, according to Farmer Claude Bennett, so frightened his ten-week-old fowls that 425 smothered during the excitement. State Rep. Dempsey Leach proposed that Georgia pay Bennett 90 cents for each casualty and toss in $25 extra for the cost of burying the birds. The House agreed to pay Bennett $382.50, but said nothing about that $25 burial fee.

The "tusk" pieces were to be studied Monday by William E. Scheele, director of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History. He said he hoped to arrange for further digging to uncover the beast's skeleton.

New Version Of Testament Being Readied

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11—First public readings from a new American translation of the Old Testament will be given here Tuesday.

The Rev. Gerard Knoff of Chicago will read the 40th chapter of Isaiah in the new version at a session of the first annual meeting of the assembly of the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA.

Translation of the new version of the Bible was started in 1928. It is the fifth revision authorized by the International Council of Religious Education. It was prepared by 32 scholars, headed by Dr. Luther A. Weigle, dean emeritus of the Yale University divinity school.

The revised New Testament was published in 1946, and two million copies already have been printed. The first printing of the complete Bible will be in September and a first run of one million copies is planned. Publication will be celebrated by 3,000 community observances throughout the country.

In authorizing the new version, the council called for "the simple classic style of the King James version," but "in the light of modern scholarship."

Heart Campaign Is Under Way Here in Earnest

Support Sought In Battle Against Menacing Disease

After getting off to a late start, the annual campaign to raise money for a national fund for research for prevention and treatment of heart disease today was under way in earnest in Fayette County.

The start of the fund-raising effort here has been delayed so it would not overlap the March of Dimes, which is just now drawing to a conclusion. The collection of contributions to combat polio was extended beyond the Jan. 31 deadline to gather up and check in all the various phases of the March of Dimes.

Mrs. H. Condon Campbell, whose husband died last year of a heart ailment, heads the Fayette County Heart Fund campaign this year. Mrs. J. H. Persinger, the wife of a physician who knows from experience the toll exacted by heart trouble, is the secretary-treasurer.

Others on the committee appointed by Mrs. Campbell are Mrs. Paul Schorr, Mrs. Caryl Williams, Mrs. Frank Snyder, Mrs. Robert Dunton, Mrs. N. M. Reiff, Mrs. Frank Baker, Mrs. Don Murdoch, Richard Patton, Walter L. O'Brien, Howard S. Harper, John Gerstner, George Campbell, Fred Enslin and Paul Pennington.

THE BACKBONE of the campaign, Mrs. Campbell said, is the direct mail appeal. Nearly 5,000 letters have gone out to a list of individuals and firms known to be interested in this effort to check deaths due to heart ailments.

Many of them, like many on the county committee, Mrs. Campbell said, have felt the sorrow brought on by heart disease among their families or close friends.

Augmenting the direct mail appeal, will be personal solicitation, the little red plastic hearts in places of business and the collections taken at the motion picture theaters this week.

Mrs. Campbell did not set any goal for the campaign; it is just as much as the people feel they can and want to give to fight the disease, she said.

The plastic hearts were distributed over the weekend by the Camp Fire Girls group, under the supervision of Mrs. Thomas Christopher, Mrs. Reiff, whose husband is a physician, is in charge of the theater collections and Gerstner is arranging the solicitation in the business firms and industrial concerns. Mrs. Murdoch is directing the house-to-house solicitation by the Camp Fire Girls.

WINSTON W. HILL, the Washington C. H. city manager, today proclaimed this "American Heart Month" to dramatize the need for increased public awareness of the dangers of heart diseases that annually take a toll of nearly 750,000 American lives.

In his proclamation, the city manager said:

"The 1952 Heart Fund being conducted through the month of February provides public spirited citizens," he said, "with the opportunity to assume their rightful responsibility in combatting the heart diseases, our nation's, our community's, leading cause of disability and death. Support of the Fund, an affiliate of the American Heart Association, will provide the weapons for fighting this public health enemy here in this community and throughout the country."

"This year," he added, "special emphasis is being placed on public education so all persons will know best to protect themselves and their loved ones. It is a pleasurable duty for me as city manager to issue this proclamation."

The city manager also reminded in his proclamation statement that heart diseases have disabled millions of other Americans who were saved from death through treatment.

Heart diseases, he continued, are recognized as one of the most important medical problems affect-

It Goes Back 160 Years

Church-State Debate Revived Anew In U.S.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The United States, which pioneered the idea of separation of church and state, today is grappling with it anew.

A wave of controversy has risen about the concept.

"It has become a very important issue in our country," said Dr. Allen Nevins, a leading American historian. "And it is a fundamental one."

Two opposing questions have been underscored:

Is an effort made to modify the historic division between church and state?

Has the divorce between the two institutions been carried to an extreme, sapping the nation of moral strength?

NUMEROUS recent events have rekindled the problem. Among them:

1. President Truman's move to send an ambassador to the Vatican.

2. The question of using public funds for parochial pupils—a matter expected to be raised anew in this Congress in connection with proposed federal aid to education.

3. A series of court cases, several of them carried to the U. S. Supreme court, involving the state and religion.

4. The spread of "released time" religious instruction and kindred religious activity in connection with the public schools.

5. Rallies, lecture tours and a flood of literature on the subject throughout the country, usually under sponsorship of church bodies.

6. Formation of "religious liberty" committees and such groups as "Protestants and Other Americans United for the Separation of Church and State," aimed at curbing what they consider "a drift toward church-state union."

ALL THIS can be traced back 160 years. Thomas Jefferson, voicing approval of passage of the first Constitution amendment in 1791, said the nation has thus built "a wall of separation between church and state."

"Religion is the alpha and omega of our moral law," he said, but added "it lies solely between man and his God."

However, neither federal nor state government has ever been entirely devoid of religious content. The question now being posed is: How much is wise, or fair, or in the interest of the general welfare?

"It is a vital matter for the U. S. in the present time," said Dr. Sidney Hook, New York University philosopher and winner of a national Four Freedoms Award.

If further attempts are made to breach the wall separating church and state, it will divide our people at a time when we should be unified in facing the most urgent issue of totalitarian Communism."

The problem has stirred discord among religious and other groups, although not always on clear-cut lines.

Major religious leaders have deplored acrimony in the debate. Here are comments by some leaders, indicating the differences:

EPISCOPAL Bishop Henry Knox Sherrill, president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA, said many Protestants see "evidence of a movement to break down our traditional practice." He added:

"Some people frankly don't believe in it. One of the great difficulties of our generation is to avoid secularization of American life, without involving relations between church and state."

"But we can't let the fear of one danger drive us headlong into the life and health of this community and the nation."

He concluded by expressing the hope that all schools, churches, civic associations, social clubs and fraternal and patriotic organizations in the community would help with the campaign to raise money for the American Heart Fund with both their personal efforts and their cash contributions.

another—which is state control of religion."

Father John Courtney Murray, Yale professor and a leading Catholic philosopher, said that church and state have been driven "farther and farther apart" in America.

"While the secularization of our culture goes on, the church is pushed more and more off to one side," he said. "In the end, it can mean pushing religion completely out of public life, and lead to some kind of atheistic quasi-totalitarianism."

Although it is "all important that the distinct jurisdiction" of church and state "be respected," he said, "there are areas of common interest" to both.

Dr. A. Paul LeVack, president of the American Catholic Historical Society, said the "greatest danger is not of ecclesiastical power running the state, but the indifference in political circles to religious factors."

"IN ANY COUNTRY, too close affiliation of church and state has proved disadvantageous to both church and state, but to use separation of the two to eliminate religion from society is doing an injustice."

Dr. Mordecai Kaplan, author, philosopher and Jewish leader, said there is "a general trend toward breaking down the separation between organized religion and the state."

This separation, he said, has proved historically to be "America's main contribution to democratic civilization" and the main-spring of religious liberty.

The chief theoretical conflict appears to lie in just what "separation" means. Where is the dividing line? At what point do bonds between the two institutions infringe on religious freedom of the individual citizen?

House Is Damaged By Fire Sunday

A cottage on the Chillicothe Road, owned by Albert (Red) Matthews and occupied by Jake T. Mastin and family, was damaged by fire about 7:30 P. M. Sunday.

The fire, of unknown origin, caused extensive damage in two rooms, which were stripped of paper. The ceilings were badly damaged.

A bucket brigade and hand fire extinguishers extinguished the blaze within a short time, without the necessity of a fire department truck being called.

Water caused much of the damage, as it was necessary to cut a hole in the roof to reach the blaze in the attic.

The house was located on the south side of the road and was formerly owned by Jack Wolfe.

The fire came almost on the anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Mastin. She was a French war bride who came here after Mastin had returned to the United States and been discharged. They were married by Rev. D. J. MacDonald in St. Andrew's Episcopal Church one rainy night in February five years ago.

The Mastins now have two small children.

Camp Fire Girls Meet Sunday To Review Past Achievement

More than 200 Camp Fire Girls and their leaders gathered at Grace Methodist Church here Sunday afternoon to review the achievement of the young girls' organization during the past year and lay plans for the future.

One of the primary purposes of the annual meeting was to make the general public more conscious of the work being done for and by these girls.

Rev. Francis T. McCarty, pastor of the First Baptist Church and chairman of the Fayette County District of the Boy Scouts, was a special guest.

After a formal presentation of a flag to the organization, the Camp Fire Girls recited the pledge to the flag to the organization, the Camp Fire Girls.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Don Murdoch.

Then there were two numbers by the chorus directed by Mrs. Robert E. Willis and a playlet presented by the Tawanka group under the direction of Mrs. O. D. Farquhar.

DR. SAMUEL D. MARBLE, president of the organization, gave the principal address of the meeting. It was a discussion of youth problems of today and was directed to the parents as well as to the girls.

The task of education today, Dr. Marble said, is to restore a sense of personal confidence, moral integrity and meaning to young people. However, he added, most American education is moving in the opposite direction by placing emphasis on technological teachings and by denying a responsibility for anything other than intellectual growth.

"Words are a poor method for changing character," Dr. Marble declared. "The requirements of this day are for teaching through deeds, lives and great beliefs."

Dr. Marble based much of his talk to the Camp Fire Girls, their parents and leaders on a report entitled, "Portrait of a Younger Generation," that appeared in Time Magazine.

According to that report, he said, the American youth of this generation is silent, fatalistic, security-minded, conservative, grave, morally confused, tolerant of almost anything and blames no one for its trouble.

In various colleges and universities, The Wilmington College president revealed, the Time Magazine appraisal has been used as the basis for questionnaires and essay writing.

In general, he said, American youth are agreed as to the accuracy of the analysis, but some disagree with the report as to how and why these attitudes arose.

Dr. Marble suggested that the attitudes of the younger generation can be explained by studying the period of the last ten years. He blamed the "unexpressed assumptions" of their elders for what the report called "moral confusion."

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. A. W. Caley, pastor of Grace Church, after the Camp Fire Goodnight had been sung by the chorus.

MEMBERS OF the Camp Fire council here are:

Mrs. Don Murdoch, Mrs. Robert Willis, Mrs. Stanley Chitty, Mrs. Thomas Willis, Mrs. Robert Minshall, Mrs. Wayne Woodyard, Mrs. Harold Craig, Mrs. Charles Shepard, Mrs. Paul VanVoorhis and Mrs. Norris Highfield.

Each of the 19 leaders of the different groups of girls was presented a corsage by the council. They were:

Mrs. Jane Kerns, Miss Marian Moore, Mrs. James Westendorf,

Defense Week To Be Noted By ROA Here

A program for the observance of National Defense Week in Washington C. H., February 12-22 inclusive, is being sponsored by the Reserve Officers Association, its sponsor since 1922, according to Lt. Lawrence W. Burris, vice president of the tri-county chapter.

"The period between Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays will again mark the traditional spotlighting of the nation's defense needs and plans, and represents a return to those long established dates," he said.

It is pointed out that the week, celebrated in all states, territories and possessions of the United States, immediately preceded Armed Forces Day in May 1950 and 1951. The association believes that complete separation of the two occasions will better serve the purposes and objectives of both.

"We want to bring our fellow citizens," he said, "a consciousness of the massive undertaking now in progress that will place our country in a position of adequate armed strength. Today as never before in history, the manpower and material needs of our armed services is the problem of every American, not just of the professional core of regulars in the army, navy and air force. Our reserve elements and national guard constitute the real decisive factor in our defense plans."

All civic and patriotic organizations are urged to take part in the observance of National Defense Week.

TRUSTEES NAMED GREENFIELD—The Board of Trustees of the Greenfield Municipal Hospital has a full roster of eight members, following the appointment of Robert Head and J. Roy Duffield.

Oldsters Keep Working To Keep Spirit Young

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A lot of oldsters here are convinced that retirement kills more persons than hard work.

Typical of those still on the job is P. M. Kokanour, 86, who runs a print shop which he opened 22 years ago. "It keeps me young in spirit," says Kokanour who has been a printer since he was 17.

Alfred Davies, 76, opened a clock repair shop here two years ago and says business is fine. Another 76-year-old man, Ralph L. Chapman, retired once and didn't like it. Now he has his own cigar stand and is already planning to expand the business.

Questionnaire Interests Many People Here

Judging by reports reaching this newspaper office there has been a surprising amount of interest shown by people of this county in preparing answers to the questionnaire sent out by Congressman James K. Polk who represents our new sixth congressional district.

This is a healthy sign. It would seem to indicate that a lot of people in this county, probably also in the other eight counties of this district, are displaying evidence of doing some definite thinking on important questions of the day regarding our federal government.

Congressman Polk apparently is trying to learn what a large and representative group of the people in his district are favoring with reference to future congressional action. He also will learn from a large number of people here what they think of the national administration's attitude in pushing for more money-spending legislation.

Polk is a Democrat. If he is sincere (and so far we have no reason to doubt his intent) in wanting to learn what his constituents think of the increasing size of the present national administration policies, he is likely to get an earful if we can judge by some of the replies which people have brought to this office or told us about sending.

The questions which he has mailed to many people concern general policies which will come up for considerable debate this year. It is important that all congressmen and senators know what the people they represent are thinking instead of allowing the pressure groups and bureaucracies which infest Washington D. C. to decide how Congress should vote. This is a year of decision. If Congressman Polk, who is a candidate for reelection, has a desire to get a true view of the opinions of a good sized cross-section of the people of this district and intends to act accordingly, he is doing a smart thing in sending out this list of questions.

And the public should answer, fearlessly and honestly.

A Hoarder's End

Those who enjoy studying unusual aberrations of humanity have a juicy morsel in the case of Harry C. Smith, who died in New York last November, in a charity hospital, and was buried in the potter's field. No more dreary end could come to any man. For years he resided in a dilapidated shack, amid a shambles of old newspapers and junk. The place had no bed. The few neighbors who noticed him did not know how he existed and probably cared little because they were poor themselves.

His only remembered activities were regular visits to a financial institution, where he had a safety deposit box. When his visits ceased officials made inquiry and found a half million dollars in the box. He had no known relatives and the money goes to the state. The moral seems to be that money has no value unless it is put to some use.

Diet and Health Physical Deformity Has Mental Reaction

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

When a person is deeply disturbed over a deformity of face or body, it is quite proper to consider plastic surgery, because the average man has an inherent desire to look like his fellow man, and not to appear peculiar, or even different.

Many people—in fact most people—seem to be able to ignore their own deformities at will, or even to use them to their own advantage. For others, these same deformities are an unbearable calamity.

Many of the deformities people are born with are really no disadvantage in their physical living. The trouble is, rather, that they cannot adapt psychologically to their deformity.

Children's Delinquency

It is believed that many children become delinquent because of a facial deformity. We even have reports of adult criminals who were able to make a new start once a deformity was corrected.

When children are born with certain deformities, such as webbed fingers, cleft palate, or hare lip, the deformity should be repaired as soon as it is medically advisable. For some conditions, such as cleft palate, an operation may have to be delayed to allow for proper growth, but whenever possible it should be done before the child enters school. Any deformity a child does not notice himself is often brought to his attention in school.

Plastic surgery is not an unnecessary luxury, or "sissy stuff" for women only. A twisted personality is too great a price to pay for deformed features that may be transformed by a simple operation.

Too often when a person is deeply unhappy over a minor or even major deformity, he is advised against the help that might come from plastic surgery, in fact, he is even laughed out of it. People who give this sort of advice are unaware of the serious mental handicap it may be leaving with the afflicted one.

It has been proved that any deformity which causes a person to avoid social contacts, exposes him to ridicule, or in any way leads him to develop an inferiority complex, should be corrected as soon as possible. Modern advances in plastic surgery can give such a person much help with little risk.

In A Mouse-Hole -- Waiting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Wilbur Peeble, America's most average citizen, suddenly called off his one-man investigation of the federal government.

He tells why in this final letter to his wife, Trellis Mae:

Dearest honey, Well, I give up! I came here as a patriotic duty, trying to find out what really is going on in the national capital. But it is simply too much for one mind, no matter how gifted. You have to be a paper clip to really get the feel of Washington.

And I'm worn out from head to foot. My arches are flat from walking on marble floors all day and I'm suffering from martini-arthritis, a common disease among the cocktail circuit riders here. Also, I'm broke. I told the hotel clerk I would probably have to go out on the highway and hitch a ride home.

"A lot of our visitors leave that way," he said, cheerfully. Come back after the November election. They always button up here a little before election."

Now, that was a typical remark. They figure nobody comes to Washington except to look for a job, and nobody leaves unless he is disappointed. They just don't believe anybody works outside the government by choice.

You almost became a widow yesterday. I was passing a government office building before dusk. The doors opened, and a mob of people rushed out and ran over me. I jumped up and yelled to a fellow:

"There must've been an explosion in there. Come on. Let's go in, and help bring out the wounded."

"There's nothing wrong," he said. "It's just quitting time."

I fell in step with him, and he said: "You know a lot of folks have got the wrong idea about us government employees. They think we're all loafers. But we work as hard as anybody. I wish some of them that criticize us just had my job."

Then he paused in alarm, and said: "What am I saying? I don't mean that."

I decided I ought to pay my respects to President Truman before getting out of town. On the way over I told the taxi driver I felt pretty blue because I really hadn't been able to find out what is going on in Washington.

He cheered me up by saying: "They ain't nothing to find out because they ain't nothing going on, now, Bud. Nobody is doing anything, because he knows if he does something he'll be investigated, whatever it is. Everybody's in his mouse hole—waiting."

Well, I didn't get to see the

By Hal Boyle

President. One of his hired hands apologized, and said: "He's busy right now reading a book somebody sent him called 'How to Live on a Small Income in Florida.'"

But I'll tell you, Trellis Mae, the President is the only relaxed man in town. He's having more fun than a circus, because he's the only man here who knows for sure what he's going to do—and hasn't said what it is.

The Democrats all say: "Of course he's going to run." And the Republicans all say: "I just wish he'd run again—or do! Nobody can rear back and pass a second miracle—or can he?"

From my window I can see the Washington Monument, standing clear and bare and simple in the moonlight. That is the way life used to be here. But now it is more like the capitol building, covered with complicated fretwork and full of many rooms.

Washington is like a big sea. The politicians come and make a few waves in their time, then leave. But the real currents run too deep for us on the surface to know.

Anyway, I'm coming home, before they start investigating my investigation. It is all too much for

Phone Company Asks Rehearing

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11.—Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. has asked the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for a rehearing on its emergency rate increase application.

The commission previously granted Ohio Consolidated — third largest independent telephone company in the state—an 11 per cent rate increase the company sought a total 28 per cent increase. The company based its rehearing application on nine points—most of them charging error—and apparently is not satisfied with an increase of 11 per cent.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11.—Thirty-two trucking firms have asked the Public Utilities Commission Ohio for a rehearing on its trip-lease order.

One petition was filed by a group of 24 trucking companies and another by eight companies. Both groups charged the PUCO exceeded its authority and violated both the Ohio and U. S. Origin of Town Names in County Provides Sidelight on Its History

The origins of the names of many of Fayette County's towns and villages provide many interesting facts about the early history of this county.

And the information has been assembled by one of the committees preparing the history of Fayette County for the 1953 Sesquicentennial, which will celebrate the 150th birthday of the Buckeye state.

To get evidence on where the towns and villages derived their names the pioneer homes committee dug through old records and talked to scores of people, and then after getting the established proof, set down the story of each town and village. When the committee had all the towns and villages traced back, the members found that Good Hope was the only place where established proof was missing.

MRS. MAX DICE, chairman of the committee on pioneer homes, has been assembling data on the origin of towns and villages for several years.

Members of the pioneer homes committee are: Mrs. Dice, Mrs. J. A. Wissler of Jeffersonville, Miss Gretchen Darlington, Nathan Tway of New Martinsburg, Howard Boyland of Washington C. H., and Pitt Fitzgerald of Williamsport.

In a recent story about the origins of names of townships in Fayette County the story of Perry Township was inadvertently left out. Perry Township was named after Commodore Oliver Perry, hero of the War of 1812 in Lake Erie.

Cop-Killing Trial Now In Recess

CLEVELAND, Feb. 11 — George Ross, on trial for his life for shooting a Cleveland policeman to death, remained in his jail during a weekend recess.

The state wants the 27-year-old ex-convict from San Francisco given the "full penalty" for shooting Patrolman Forney L. Haas Dec. 8 in a Cleveland rooming house. "Full penalty" means death in the electric chair.

Ross' attorneys claim they will prove he is psychopathic—a man trying to go through life without brakes, and who suffered terrible family beatings as a child.

Constitution Study Urged By LWV Here

General Meeting Now Planned for Later on in Year

Although Ohio's "Know Your Constitution Week" came to an end last Saturday, the Fayette County League of Women Voters is going right ahead with its plans for focusing attention on the state constitution with its sights set on a big general meeting, either sometime late this spring or in the summer.

The LWV plans were outlined by Miss Agnes Kerrigan, its executive secretary.

She explained that the "Know Your Constitution Week," which was proclaimed by Gov. Frank J. Lausche, was just the spark that set in motion the LWV program designed to shed more light on the state's constitution. She made it plain that the plans of the LWV here were long range; that it was felt that an educational program such as it has mapped out could not have been completed in one week.

THE PRIMARY objective of the studies of the state constitution, the secretary said, was to provide a means for the people to inform themselves and, thus, be qualified to vote intelligently on the proposal for a constitutional convention at the fall election.

Under the constitution, the people of Ohio have a chance to vote on whether they should hold a constitutional convention every 20 years. This is the year for that vote.

The purpose of the constitutional convention, it is being explained, is to revamp the constitution—make amendments (this is not the only way to amend it, however), cut out the obsolete portions and clarify its provisions if necessary.

Miss Kerrigan said the League of Women Voters had no disposition to influence the voters, one way or the other, in their decision; rather, its purpose was to help the people inform themselves so they can make their own decisions.

For illustration, Miss Kerrigan submitted a few questions and gave the answers:

WHAT IS the dominant branch of state government? — Under Ohio's Constitution of 1802, there were various provisions known as the Articles of the Constitution. Of these, the first article pertained to legislative powers, which were considered most important. Legislation was vested in a General Assembly which was made up of a House of Representatives, elected for a one year term, and a Senate, elected for two years. There were qualifications as to numbers, age and residence. The Legislature, which met annually, was restricted by a Bill of Rights, similar to the Bill of Rights of the Constitution of the United States, intended to guarantee individual liberty.

There were no limitations to the amount of authorized public debt. All judges and all state officers, except the governor, were to be chosen by the Legislature, and their salaries fixed by law. All officers were subject to impeachment.

WHAT OTHER important provisions were made in the first constitution? — The Constitution of 1802 provided for an executive, chosen by popular vote. It provided for a judiciary— a Supreme Court, a common pleas court, justices of the peace and other courts, as the Legislature might establish. All judges were appointed by the General Assembly for a term of seven years. "If so long they behave well". Justices of the peace were elective in the townships for a three year term.

The supreme court was composed of three judges, with the legislature having the power to add one additional member after five years. It was supposed to hold court once each year in each county. The supreme court had original and appellate jurisdiction in both law and equity and complete jurisdiction in criminal cases such as were defined by law.

Best known of Thomas Edison's 1100 inventions is the incandescent lamp. Upon this invention and Edison's development of the first dynamos to supply electricity on a commercial basis, has been built the electric light and power industry.

Another of Edison's contributions was the establishment of a new method of invention now widely used — Organized Industrial Research. By this method, greatly increased industrial production has been accomplished, making life easier for millions. Quantities of necessities, conveniences and luxuries are produced with less physical effort, in less time, and at greatly reduced cost through the ever increasing use of electric power. Edison's work, and subsequent research based on his original thinking, have brought about greater emancipation from toil and poverty in a single century than had occurred in all previous history.

Upon this foundation, peacetime scientists of the future will build a new age of comfort and abundance — an age of less physical drudgery, greater production with fewer hours of effort, more leisure for cultural development and service to mankind.

15,000 Farm Aides Needed by Ohio

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11 — Ohio will need an estimated 15,000 extra workers on Ohio farms this summer, but foreign labor probably will not be needed to fill the gap, the Ohio Farm Labor Advisory Council reports.

Luke F. Beckman, council president, said, of the 15,000 extra workers, some 8,000 transient workers will come from within the state. The remaining 7,000 will come from southern and southwestern states having surplus labor markets.

Railroader Gets Wages for 1899

BIRMINGHAM, Feb. 11 — Warren Dowdell, 70, has collected $16.20 the Southern Railway owed him for work as a section hand 53 years ago.

The railroad paid off when Dowdell submitted a claim and records confirmed he had been owed wages since 1899. He left his repair gang unexpectedly one day when he heard his wife was ill, and never returned.

Mahoning Flood Project Backed

YOUNGSTOWN, Feb. 11 — The Mahoning River Valley is in constant danger of floods that could knock out its industrial might, says Kenneth M. Lloyd, secretary of the valley's flood control commission.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 11 — Switchman Joseph Krierhof, 47, fell off a freight car Friday. Three cars passed over him, cutting off part of his right leg. A locomotive fireman, William Grove, applied a tourniquet and was credited with saving his life.

Basketball Team Is Honored at Turkey Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Evans of near Atlanta, were hosts Saturday evening at a three course turkey dinner, honoring the Atlanta basketball team and included a few additional guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans seated their guests at one long table elaborately decorated with an arrangement of red and blue carnations and green foliage in an antique stem dish, as the central adornment, sentinelled with clusters of red and blue candles in crystal holders.

Place cards featuring bank boards in red with hand crocheted nets of blue, were the clever handiwork of Mrs. Burke Kearney, and nut cups in the predominating color added to the lovely theme.

Miss Clara Story Is Engaged to Gifford Glascoe

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Frost Story of the Columbus Road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Clara Putnam, to Mr. Gifford Stone Glascoe of Columbus, son of Mrs. Albert Stone Glascoe, 114 West Temple Street, and the late Mr. Glascoe.

The wedding will be an event of early summer.

Violin-making Hobby Is Born of Necessity

WASHINGTON—A pastor, unable to afford a violin that matched his young daughter's talent, made his own and thereby a hobby was born.

The Rev. Clarence R. Ferguson, a Baptist minister here, started to read up on violins about the time he gave his 7½-year-old daughter, Mary Alice, a half-sized violin. She made her first public appearance four months later. In four years she won a five-state contest.

The pastor made his first violin in 1940 from scraps from a lumber yard. It was on this violin his daughter, at 15, played a Bach concerto with a symphony orchestra.

Mr. Ferguson's violins are now made of imported wood in the Stradivarius pattern. It takes him two weeks of steady work to make a violin, exclusive of the finish. He is now working on his eighth instrument.

Owner of Painting From Korea Sought

NEW YORK—An Army captain would like to find the owner of a painting of two children which his wife received from Korea by mistake.

The soldier, Capt. S. R. Eisnitz, now stationed at the 1st Army Information Section, 90 Church St., New York City, mailed a package from Korea last summer containing a painting of his own children. When his wife received it, there was an additional painting of two other children enclosed. Eisnitz thinks a postal mixup probably caused the snafu.

The extra painting is of a boy and girl. It is painted in oils on silk and is the work of a Japanese artist.

The family of the Aga Khan, Moslem leader, claims descent from Fatima, daughter of the prophet Mohammed.

I have a lot of the fat boys around here taking Rennel after seeing what it has done for me."

Thousands have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. Obtain liquid Rennel at your drug store, mix with grapefruit juice as directed and take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. You need never know a hungry moment reducing with Rennel.

Lions Play Franklin Here Tuesday Night

With three victories in a row chalked up, the Lion cagers of WHS today were getting set for a non-SCO League game with the basketballers from Franklin here Tuesday night.

While there was no inclination to minimize the importance of the Franklin game—for the Lions have got a winning spirit—the upcoming non-league fracas has taken off some of the pressure.

The Lions have been weakened by a wave of influenza that has swept through the squad. The effects of illness were noticeable in the game here Friday night when the Lions just barely squeezed past the Wilmington Hurricane for a hard-won, 40-37, victory.

So, it's a foregone conclusion that if any of the Lions have not completely recovered from their ailments, they will see little action against the Franklintonians.

THE BIG GAME, so far as the SCO scramble is concerned, comes up Friday night at Greenfield. On the outcome of that game probably will hinge the championship of the league.

Although the Washington C. H. boys trounced the Greenfielders, 51 to 47, when they met here Jan. 4, they are not expected to have any easy time when they meet the Tigers next Friday night in the return game on the much smaller Greenfield floor.

The result of Tuesday night's game with the boys from Franklin is rated at about a toss-up. The Lions might be slight favorites were it not for the weakening effects of the influenza during the past week.

The Lions played their raggedest game of the season when they beat the Hurricanes, but Coach Harry Townsend and the loyal fans attributed that to the effects of the illness and absence from the squad, because of it, some of the regulars.

The feeling now is that: "Well, they've got that out of their system and if the boys are in good physical shape they'll get rolling again."

Whether they will be in shape for the Franklin game is speculative, but indications now are that the flu has run its course through the squad and that it will be back up to par Tuesday night.

Jeffersonville Wins South Salem Game To Wind Up Season

Jeffersonville's Tigers wound up their regular schedule by romping over South Salem, 74 to 52, on the Jeffersonville High School court Saturday evening.

After the first few minutes of the game, it was pretty well decided who would win. The Tigers racked up 27 points in the opening frame, while holding the visitors to seven tallies.

By halftime the score was almost doubled as the Tigers continued to pour through points for a 44 to 15 lead.

Following the intermission, Jeff loaded the court with substitutes who made the score, 56 to 32, at the end of the third frame. Eighteen more points in the final frame wrote the story.

Roger Stockwell, Tiger forward, and Ron Cornell, Tiger guard, led the team scoring with 19 tallies each. Wisecup, South Salem guard, led the game scoring with 20 points.

The Jeff Reserves had a rougher time of it in the preliminary game, but they were still able to come out on top with a 32 to 25 score.

Joe Huff led the scoring for the Tiger Reserves and the game with 14 points.

Saturday the Tigers will take on Bloomingburg's Bulldogs in the opening round of the county tournament in Mt. Sterling.

New Baseball League Plans Fade For '52

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11.—Prospects for a new Class C Midwest baseball league in 1952 have faded, but the sights are now set in 1953.

Representatives of four teams from the Class D Ohio - Indiana League and two teams from the Class A Central League met here Sunday in a futile attempt to organize the new league.

Frank M. Colley, president of the O-I League, said only four teams were prepared to post deposits to guarantee operation in 1952. At the same time, Colley announced the O-I would not operate this season.

Teams represented at the meeting were Springfield, Lima and Newark, O., and Richmond, Ind., of the O-I; Dayton, O., and Charleston, W. Va., of the Central League.

One source said Dayton and Charleston were the only teams "ready to go."

Iowa Upsets Illini; Nets Big Ten Tie

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Locked in a tie for the lead, Illinois and Iowa Monday night resume a sizzling drive down the last half of the Big Ten basketball title race.

If either falters, rapidly improving Minnesota, 6-3, or Indiana, 4-3, may be ready to shoot to the front.

Illinois and Iowa, each with 6-1 league records, have seven games remaining. The Illini have three road games left and Iowa four.

The leadership deadlock was accomplished Saturday at Iowa City when the Hawkeyes defeated Illinois, 73-68.

The title apparently will hinge on the Illinois-Iowa return match at Champaign, Ill. Feb. 23.

Illinois' remaining road games include Indiana Feb. 18, Purdue March 1 and Wisconsin March 8.

BESIDES THE Illinois trip, Iowa goes to Purdue Saturday, Ohio State Feb. 18, and Northwestern March 1.

Monday night, unpredictable Michigan State, 4-4, is at Illinois; Indiana at Minnesota, Michigan, 2-5, at Iowa, Northwestern, 4-5, at Ohio State, 3-5, and Wisconsin, 2-4, at Purdue, 1-7.

Indiana, led by freshmen Don Schlundt with 35 points, trounced Purdue Saturday, 93-70.

Michigan State walloped Ohio State, 70-52. Minnesota trimmed Wisconsin, 54-47, and Michigan surprised Northwestern, 71-69.

Middlecoff Wins El Paso Open

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 11.—Golf's tour rolled on to San Antonio for the Texas Open Monday minus Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis ace who leads the year's money-winners as a result of his victory in the $10,000 El Paso Open.

Middlecoff shot sub-par golf all four rounds to take the $2,000 first prize in the El Paso tournament. He won't play at San Antonio in the $10,000 Texas Open—he had a date at home to take periodic hay fever shots.

Palmer Leading El Paso Open

EL PASO, Feb. 8.—Johnny Palmer, the Baden, N. C., tournament veteran, for whom the cash register hasn't been ringing much lately, set out at the head of the field in the $10,000 El Paso Open's second 18-hole round Friday.

Palmer led with a seven-under-par 64. Breathing on Palmer's neck was Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., who did a 65. Middlecoff missed only one green. He sank two 20-footers and one 15-footer.

Darling Holding Loop Score Lead

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Iowa's Chuck Darling popped in 26 points against Illinois Saturday to maintain his record basketball scoring pace in the Big Ten with a 25.5 average through seven games.

Locked in second place, each with a 22.1 average, are two more

Ohio College Cage Races Tightening

Central State '5' Finally Topped From Lossless List

COLUMBUS, Feb. 11.—This week's games in the Ohio and Mid-American Conference college cage races could snarl the standings into an "anyone can win" tangle.

Only three games are on the Mid-American slate, but they may throw that tight little loop into a deadlock. Third and fourth-place Toledo and Ohio U. tangle Tuesday in Athens with not too much at stake, but the big ones pop up Saturday.

In the weekend frays Western Reserve, seeking its first loop win, invades second place Miami with another defeat practically certain. At the same time Western Michigan's loop leaders visit the lair of Cincinnati's Bearcats, defending champions who have won but three of seven.

But all three Bearcats wins were manufactured on their home lot. Western Michigan defeated Cincinnati 62-56 at Kalamazoo, but if the Bearcats can turn the tables, and Miami does the expected in whipping Western Reserve, the Mid-American is deadlocked.

WOOSTER and Oberlin are the only unbeaten teams in the Ohio Conference, the Scots with five wins and the Yeomen with four. Close on their heels, with nine wins in 10 starts, is Capital—the team the experts believe will wind up the pennant. Wooster and Oberlin tangle Saturday night with the lead at stake, and the Scots also must dispose of Akron Wednesday on the Zippers court.

Western Michigan suffered its first Mid-American loss last week, 57-54, at the hands of Toledo, while Findlay's Oilers, Mid-Ohio loop pacesetters, also went down for the first time in the circuit, 79-68 to second-place Defiance.

The biggest thud was made, however, by Central State. The Greene Countians were the last of Ohio's quintets to feel defeat, their 11-game winning streak ended at Tennessee State, 65-48.

Central State clung to the top of the state-wide standings, and has Bluffton, Cedarville and Wilmington to combat this week.

Ohio teams ranked in the first ten, in order, are:

Central State, Dayton, Capital, Miami, Defiance, Youngstown, Wilmington, Wooster, Ohio North and Findlay.

Nation's Only Big Unbeaten '5s' To Meet

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The collegiate basketball program presents a natural Monday night when Duquesne and St. Bonaventure meet in Pittsburgh in a clash of the nation's only undefeated major teams.

Off past performances there is little to choose between the two teams. Each has won 16 games. The Dukes, coached by Ducey Moore, have a slightly better defensive record. They've limited the opposition to 50 points per game as against the New Yorkers' 54.6. But St. Bonaventure, tutored by Ed Melvin, has averaged 73.3 points on the offensive compared to Duquesne's 70.

St. Bonaventure is the fourth ranked team in the country. Duquesne placed fifth in last week's Associated Press poll.

The Bonnies drew even with Duquesne in the games won column Saturday night by pulling away from Cincinnati in the last half for a 67-55 victory. Duquesne has been idle since beating Niagara Wednesday.

Bob, Bing Defend Golf Reputations

NEW YORK — Bob Hope and Bing Crosby are two actors who don't mind being called hams but they will defend bitterly their reputations as golfers. To prove this they have hurled a challenge at any two British actors who feel about golfing as they do.

When word reached Hope that the British press was in a stew about his and Crosby's frivolous behavior during the British Amateur Golf Championship tournaments, he came back with:

"If they don't think we can play the game, Bing and I will meet any two British actors who think they're hot golfers, with all proceeds going to charity. This time we'll practice first for about a week so that we get to know the course."

To show that he and Bing aren't joking, he added:

"We'll also make any side bets that Lloyd's of London care to back up. We've got New York Life Insurance on our side. Bing wants to make a trip to England soon anyway to see what they're doing with his impounded money."

centers, Carl McNulty of Purdue and Freshman Don Schlundt of Indiana. McNulty bagged 36 points and Schlundt hit 35 when Indiana and Purdue clashed Saturday.

ONE of the featured stars of the Boston Sportsmen's show, Ted Williams, outfielder of the Red Sox, puts on a fly-casting exhibition with the aid of Jill Hindle, "Striped Bass Queen" of Martha's Vineyard. Ted is expected to pick up a big wave of dough for his appearances. (International)

Cubs To Play Papooses Here On Wednesday

The Lion Cub cagers today were all keyed up for their last game of the season Wednesday afternoon when they play the Indian Papooses from Hillsboro on the WHS floor here.

If they can win that one, they will finish the season with a record of eight victories against one defeat.

But their coach, Fred Pierson, keeps telling them that if they beat the Papooses they will have to at their best. He has a healthy respect for the Juniors down at Hillsboro, and he does not want his Cubs to forget it.

When the two teams met earlier in the season, the Cubs squeezed through with a 21 to 16 victory and they had to give their all to do it.

Pierson rates the Papooses as the best outfit the Cubs have met this season—that, in spite of the defeat they suffered at the hands of Greenfield's Tiger Cubs when they met on the Greenfield floor. In the previous game with the Greenfielders here, the Cubs came up with an easy victory. Why they went into a tailspin when they played the return game is still somewhat of a mystery. Both Pierson and the Cubs don't want that to happen when the Papooses come here.

The Hillsboro basketballers appear to have had a jinx on the Washington C. H. boys this year. The only SCO defeat that mars the Lion Varsity record was the 55-54 Jan. 18. Of course, they came back to swamp the Indians, 60 to 41, in the return game here.

Kiner Expecting Boost In Salary

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 8.—Ralph Kiner, the Pittsburgh Pirate leftfielder whose booming homerun makes the turnstiles click at Forbes Field, wants more money. Kiner declared:

"I am going to ask for more money, and I don't expect to have any trouble getting it. I talked with John Galbreath (Pirate president) at the World Series. We were pretty well agreed on what I'll receive in 1952." Kiner reportedly has drawn down $65,000 a year the last two seasons.

Attendance Record

EAST LANSING, Mich. —The all-time home attendance record for Michigan State basketball was set in 1947-48 when 88,750 spectators saw ten home games. Biggest single crowd was 15,384 for the Kentucky game that season.

Hawaiian Horse Chant

MIAMI.—Dr. G. E. Woolard, Florida horse breeder, has a penchant for giving his horses Hawaiian names. And race track announcers are getting tongue-twisted as a result. Last year Dr. Woolard named one of his horses Mami Na Wawae. This season Erwiwi, Hekili and Makani Ikaika are racing in his colors. In Hawaiian, the names of the last mentioned horses mean "be quick," "thunder," and "hurricane." But pity the poor announcers.

Journalistic Fielder

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Bob Nie man, the rookie St. Louis Browns' outfielder who made two consecutive homers on his first two trips to the plate in his first game with the Browns last season, is a journalism student at Kent State Teachers College, Kent, O. Nie man's wife is majoring in advertising at the same school.

Sporting Fishermen Go International

ROME—Anglers of all countries, unite! That's the slogan of an international conference called here from Feb. 22-24.

Fishermen from 14 countries will try to find out ways and means of creating an international federation for sporting fishermen.

European anglers' federations participating will include: Britain, France, Denmark, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, Finland, Switzerland, Spain, Portugal, Yugoslavia, Greece and Italy.

The aim of the conference is to sponsor international fishing contests and earn official recognition to angling as a sport.

Delegates will exchange information on fishing legislation in their countries and seek coordination of the laws.

Another aim is to promote "fishing tourism" between European countries and to obtain recognition of an "international fishing license," just as there is an international driving license. The fishing license would be accepted by all countries participating in the conference.

The Swedish angling federation instructed the Danish federation to act as its observer at the conference.

Even Iron Curtain countries such as Poland, Czechoslovakia and Bulgaria said their fishing federations were interested in the project—but were unable to send delegates at this time.

Yonkers Raceway Plans

YONKERS, N. Y.—Close to $1,800,000 in purses will be distributed to horsemen at Yonkers Raceway during 1952. Of that amount, approximately $700,000 will be on the line during the 35-night, April 15-May 24 spring meeting. The summer meeting will be 12 nights, Aug. 18-30 and the fall season from Sept. 29 to Nov. 15.

Hank Tells Doby Why Salary Cut

CLEVELAND, Feb. 8.—Hank Greenberg wasn't trying to be funny when he sent Larry Doby a contract calling for a pay cut of around $6,000, or the maximum 25 per cent.

When Doby protested to the Indians' general manager that this was going a bit far, Greenberg told him:

"Larry, you drove in only four runs against the Yanks all season and only three against the White Sox. You drove in 55 runs against the second division clubs and only 15 against the first division teams."

Back to Alma Mater

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Two of Michigan State's greatest linemen are now assistant freshmen coaches at their alma mater. They are tackle Hal Vogler, captain of the 1949 team, and Don Mason, "hard-hitting guard on the same '44 team.

Track Ace at Duke

DURHAM, N. C.—One of the top prospects on Duke's outdoor track squad is Joe Shankle, all-around ace who starred at Randolph-Macon Academy. His top prep school record for the high hurdles was 14.4 — only one tenth of a second off the Southern Conference record set in 1939.

Coronation Date Studied By British

Queen Bess May Get Crown In August, But Not In Winter

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Queen Elizabeth probably will be crowned sometime between next August and the spring of 1953, Londoners are guessing.

There just isn't an official hint yet about the exact date. Court officials do not start thinking about the coronation until well after the late King's funeral.

Nor does British history help. There is no set interval. Some British kings have waited several years, others only a few months, before going down Westminster Abbey to have the heavy crown placed on their heads.

There is only one fixed rule—it cannot take place until coronation for the dead monarch is over.

There is a second principle—not laid down in any rules of etiquette, but usually observed by practical courtiers—the coronation should not take place in winter. It often is raining in Britain then, and bad weather spoils colorful uniforms and keeps the crowds away.

NINE MONTHS court morning was decreed by King Edward VIII when King George V died 16 years ago.

If Queen Elizabeth chooses the same period in memory of her father, no coronation ceremony could be held before the winter chill descends on London.

So, citizens are guessing the coronation ceremony and the long parade which accompanies it most likely would be put off until the following spring. But if the mourning is only six months it still would be possible to stage the lavish display by August.

A coronation requires lots of planning.

Dad Dies On Day Child Is Born

AUBURN, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The daughter of Lt. Allen F. Baker will never see her daddy—he died in a plane crash in Japan the same night she was born in a hospital here.

Mrs. Baker gave birth to the child, their second, Thursday night. She said an Air Force telegram she received Friday did not give details of the crash.

Recently a food expert credited "can opener cooks" with being among the nation's finest. So don't berate your favorite kitchen engineer if she develops can-opener callouses. Anyway, canned cookery has certainly taken a lot of drudgery out of milady's kitchen routines, especially when she's racing the clock. By the time you're peeling the vegetables for a pot of soup, you can open a can and be in business. Some critics say the soup doesn't taste like the kind mother used to make. Of course, the question is... whose mother? If this leads to arguments, you can always go out to dinner.

Another 4 Star Hereford Sale is past history. We were very happy to have so many fine folk from many states as our guests last week. Our largest buyer was Leon Leighton of Maine. The top bull went to George Becker and Wm. Bonser of Loveland, Colorado. This gives you an idea of how Fayette County Herefords attract buyers from distant states.

It was a rather strange coincidence that our sale average was $1952 same as year 1952. The many new acquaintances we made and the renewal of old ones was very pleasing. We feel we contributed something to Herefords in Ohio and gave our own county a nice boost in its already enviable position as the greatest purebred livestock producing county in Ohio.

A lot of deep thinkers have been fumbling with their crystal balls and muttering, "1952 is a year of decision." But what year isn't?
If you're thinking of a new car this year... give a thought to the great new BUICK for '52. It has the famous FIRE-BALL engine... hydra-matic drive... plus hundreds of exciting new features. We have it on display now our showrooms... at R. BRANDENBURG MOTOR SALES, INC., 524 Clinton Ave. Phone: 2575.

Barn Burns On Blue Rock Farm

Firemen Save Much Other Property

A large barn on the Blue Rock farm, a mile west of the Blue Rock Quarries, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin, Saturday night.

With the barn, which recently had been moved and remodeled, three sows, seven pigs, farm equipment and considerable hay were destroyed.

The Greenfield fire department crew saved a large tool shed and $15,000 worth of farm equipment, and a corn crib containing 3,000 bushels of corn. Both buildings were near the barn, which was a complete loss.

The structure was 60 by 40 feet with a 60 foot long shed attached. Origin of the fire could not be determined and an investigation will probably be made.

Neighbors with buckets did notable work in holding the fire in check until the fire department arrived.

The structure was partly covered by insurance. It will be rebuilt in the near future.

Arrests Are Made By Officers Sunday

Sunday the police and the state patrol picked up a number of violators, including several plain drunks.

Dillon A. Haines, for passing on a yellow line, posted $20 bond for appearance in municipal court.

Russell T. Raresden, passing on a yellow line, was given a citation.

D. S. Easter of Columbus was fined $25 and costs for being in his car while under the influence of drugs medicine prescribed by his physician.

Oscar W. Allen, 42, Springfield, for running a red light and nearly crashing into the police cruiser. He forfeited $15 bail.

Fred A. Thoeny, 20, Cold Spring, Ky., reckless operation.

Carl Lohstroh, 21, Cincinnati, reckless operation.

test because he would be backing "favorite sons" in both states—Harold E. Stassen in Minnesota and Gov. Earl Warren in California.

But the possibility arose that he may be forced into the Minnesota race, in which Stassen, Eisenhower, and MacArthur are entered on the GOP ticket. MacArthur may withdraw.

A rural editors' committee announced Sunday at Pierz, Minn., that all presidential candidates—including Taft, President Truman, Warren and Sen. Kefauver, who have not filed—will be entered in the March 18 primary by a petition now being circulated. If they want to withdraw, they must sign an affidavit saying they are not candidates, and will not accept a nomination if it is offered.

SENATOR Russell B. Long (D-La.) said in St. Louis that he believed Eisenhower could carry the South on either ticket if nominated. But he said chances of nomination do not seem "too good."

Stassen, in Washington, said he wasn't reflecting on Indiana citizens when he said a "semi-isolationist Republican hierarchy" had lost that state and Ohio and Illinois to Democrats in recent elections.

Republican Senator Capehart of Indiana had criticized him for the remark. Actually, Stassen said, he was giving voters credit for urging GOP leaders to get up to date in their platforms.

Warren said in New York he will announce soon in which states he will enter presidential primaries—and added he was giving some thought to those in Wisconsin and Oregon.

County Courts

SEEKS $15,000

Paul Chaffin, in an action in common pleas court, makes George Aills, Jr., defendant in a suit for $15,000 damages, as result of injuries sustained while he was a passenger in Aills' auto.

It was on March 3, 1950, according to the petition, that the two parties were at Loudner's place on the CCC highway a mile west of Washington C. H.

Chaffin states in his petition, that the defendant asked him to go to Sabina with him, and they started for that place.

Chaffin also says in his petition that the defendant was intoxicated, and he did not know it until they had started.

He said he remonstrated with the defendant, but the latter sought to pass two autos on U. S. 22, west, at a speed of about 70 miles, lost control of his car and the auto landed in a field, up-side down.

Plaintiff, who is represented by Winston W. Hill, states that he was injured seriously, and was unconscious for sometime.

He states that he was taken to a physician's office and then to Doctors Hospital, Columbus. His physician bills were $475 and hospital $300, it is stated.

The injuries are of a permanent nature, the plaintiff claims, and says he was damaged to the extent of $15,000 for which he asks judgment.

DIVORCE ASKED

Kenneth Thompson, in a court action against Alice Thompson, asks for divorce and title to property on Gibbs Avenue and possession of household goods.

Plaintiff, who is represented by W. W. Hill, states that he was married to the defendant Nov. 9, 1946. The parties have no children.

Paint Creek Flood

north of the city, Hughes made his explanation.

He stated that the county was without funds to take up a project of this character and also was without legal authority to do so. It is a situation that can be handled only by a petition of landowners along the creek. Any costs of such improvement must be borne by the landowners, he stated. The other two commissioners Ralph Minton and Homer Miller concurred in this view.

COUNTY ENGINEER C. P.

Wagner said that the velocity of the water flow under the bridges and along the channel in the city was fairly rapid but that he also thought a certain amount of water was being held back by brush and logs in the creek at certain points, some near bridges below the city. Landrum said he felt that no large project such as dredging the creek bed was necessary. He indicated that much relief might be obtained by merely cleaning out brush, logs and other debris where there was a pile-up at some points in the creek bed. He stated that his company's loss in the recent flood was serious enough that it did not want to undergo another experience of this kind.

There was general agreement by officials and committee members that effort toward some action should be made at once. The plan approved to name a committee to take the matter up with the state was agreeable to all. If help cannot be obtained from that source, the committee will seek a program to go on from there to determine a course of action as soon as possible and how to proceed.

The county commissioners said that they and the county engineer would be a part of this committee.

While there may be a long range problem involved for a more extensive improvement it was agreed, attention first will be centered upon what immediate move can be made to help the condition at once.

an endeavor to prevent a condition such as recently existed.

Flying Priests Land Plane on Edge of City

Two flying priests found a pasture on the T. B. McCoy farm near Memorial Hospital, a welcome haven from darkness and strong headwinds early Sunday evening.

En route from Pittsburgh, Pa., to a small field between Hamilton and Cincinnati, the priests decided to land their two-place Aerona plane on McCoy's farm before resuming their journey.

The two—Father Borchers and Father Kelly—spent the night at the William Boylan residence, 627 South Main Street. Father Borchers, the pilot, took off about 8:45 o'clock Monday morning, a tenant on the farm said.

But Father Kelly continued his journey by bus.

Reports indicated that the two priests left Pittsburgh about noon Sunday and expected to reach their home field by 4 P. M., but they encountered stiff headwinds which slowed their progress. When they landed on the McCoy farm on the CCC Highway, it was about 6 P. M. Sunday and getting dark quickly.

The two young priests are associated with the Glenmary Mission Home Missioners of America at Glendale. When Father Borchers took off Monday morning, he said he had to get back to teach a class at 11 o'clock Monday morning.

The combined choir sang "Sleepers Awake," "Thy Word is a Light," "Rise, Rise" and "Era of Peace."

Three Face Charges Following Free For All

Three Mt. Sterling residents were charged in municipal court with malicious destruction of property as the result of a free-for-all fight in the CCC Highway Grill near Cook's Station, early Saturday morning.

Frank Darling was released on $200 bond and his trial will be held Feb. 19.

Sherwood Burns failed to give bond and was placed in the county jail. His hearing was set for Feb. 19.

Fred Morrison was Monday morning fined the costs and given 10 days in jail, the 10 days being suspended on good behavior.

Two Fayette County Youths Receive Highest Scout Award In Ceremonies at Columbus

Two Boy Scouts from Fayette County were presented with Scouting's highest award—the rank of Eagle—at a court of Honor, held in the Central YMCA in Columbus Sunday afternoon.

The youths, Don Clay of Troop 112 in Washington C. H. and David Johnson of Troop 133 in Bloomingburg, were among the 32 Scouts from the Central Ohio Area Council who received this signal honor.

Johnson became the first youth from Bloomingburg to ever receive the Eagle Scout badge while Clay was the first youth from Washington C. H. to receive the honor in approximately 12 years.

The Eagle badge was presented to the scoutmasters of each troop who in turn presented the badge to the Scout's mother. Each mother pinned the badge on her son's uniform, and he in turn presented his mother with a rose.

The badges were in charge of Dr. B. L. Stradley, vice president of Ohio State, who in turn greeted each Scout, his parents and scoutmaster.

Dr. H. L. Bevis, president of Ohio State, gave the principal address before a large crowd of Scouts, parents, sponsors and friends.

THOSE WHO CAME to see Clay receive the Eagle Scout badge were as follows: his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Clay and sister Eleanor, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Craig and Mary Lou, Marvin Cook, Joe Gardner, Emmett Sylvester, Warren Craig, Paul Warnecke, Eldon Brown, Bill Hidy, Ronald Whitaker, Alan Hays and Maurice Hopkins, scoutmaster of troop 112, which is sponsored by the Paul H. Attendance in City Schools Remains Low

Although the sunshine put an end to damp weather over the weekend, it did not improve the attendance in city schools Monday morning.

Supt. Stephen Brown reported that there were 337 pupils absent in the city schools Monday morning.

The average number of daily absences during the past six weeks has been 144.

In the breakdown, there were 158 absences in the elementary schools and 179 in the high school on Monday morning.

Sunnyside, with 40 absences, led the list. Eastside was next with 35; Rose Avenue had 31; Central, 27, and Cherry Hill, 25.

In the high school, of the total of 179 students out, 98 were girls and 81 were boys.

Prin. E. Wayne Titus said many of those who were out last week returned to their classrooms Monday morning and were in the dean's office getting excuses. But he said there is a fresh crop of absences Monday morning.

Vance Attends Confab Held in Dayton School

G. B. Vance, head of the industrial arts department in Washington C. H. High School, has returned here from attending a state industrial arts conference in Dayton on Saturday. The conference included visits during the morning to the shops at Roosevelt High School in Dayton, where the shop instructors saw work in wood, metal and plastics, special education and drafting. In the afternoon the instructors heard a talk by the head of the fabrication department on what men and women should be trained in for future vocations.

Unusual Case Heard By Judge Brubaker

Municipal Judge Robert L. Brubaker had an unusual case for decision Monday forenoon.

The man before him was Thomas Coonrod, Jr., of Lyndon, facing a charge of intoxication.

Coonrod was arrested by the police, for his own protection, officers said, when he appeared at police headquarters "in a bad state of intoxication" and turned over a set of automobile keys to the police.

Coonrod explained that his uncle was drunk and was going to drive the car, so he took possession of the keys and turned them over to the police to prevent his uncle driving while drunk.

Judge Brubaker took the position that Coonrod's intentions were good, even though he was intoxicated, so he dismissed the charge against Coonrod.
